MILE-HIGH STYLE

Good interior design is always a challenge, subject to the job's location, client goals and budget. But what happens when the interior in question is a small cylindrical tube flying at 40,000 feet? Can luxury and creativity coexist comfortably with compact functionality and safety? The answer, as shown in the following profiles of unique interior designs created for owners of midsize and very large business jets, is an emphatic yes.

*NEW! Mexico's Magnificent Pyramids

Mexico boasts an astounding 38,102 archeological sites—spread over landscapes as diverse as deserts, mountains, jungles and even heavily populated urban areas—175 of which are open to the public for exploration. Of these sites, the territory's majestic pyramids are probably the best-known and most sought-after attractions. These unique and enduring structures have become icons of the ancient world, telling the stories of the lost Aztec, Mayan and pre-Hispanic civilizations. Here, stunning design, breathtaking natural beauty and rich culture collide. For a getaway that's as exciting as it is eye-opening, read on.
